

DUAL FORCE...

FULTON & KENNEDY – THE WAY FORWARD

KCS Group Europe is delighted to announce two major new appointments.

Andrew Fulton, a former UK diplomat, has joined as Co-Chairman of the Group and the KCS Advisory Board.

With immediate effect, Andrew - a strong addition to the existing KCS team led by Stuart Poole-Robb - will assist with the development of the Scottish and US markets.

Andrew's background in the security and investigations sector is a perfect fit. Past senior roles have included GPW Ltd, Control Risks, Armor Group, Memex Technology and IndigoVision.

As a diplomat, Andrew had postings in Saigon, Rome, East Berlin, Oslo, UK Mission to the UN in New York, and Washington DC.

Andrew is currently Hon President (formerly Founding Chairman) of the Scottish North American Business Council. He is also a former Chairman of the Scottish Conservative and Unionist Party. He has served as a Visiting Professor at his alma mater, University of Glasgow School of Law.

Commenting today on his new appointment "I have been most impressed by KCS as a company, not least by the high standard of work produced by such a committed and able staff. I much look forward to helping us make further progress both internationally and here in the UK".

Sue Kennedy has joined the Group as Chief Financial Officer – also with immediate effect.

As a Chartered Accountant with almost thirty years' experience under her belt, Sue brings a wealth of insight with her. Working in finance and consultancy over the years has included various business sectors - professional services, hospitality, and charities.

Having worked at the Ellerman Hotel Casino (formerly The Ritz Hotel Casino) since 2009, Sue is very aware of the complexity of dealing with high-net-worth individuals - with clients based in sensitive areas overseas such as the Middle and Far East.

The casino was regulated by the Gambling Commission in the UK, and Sue was also a member of the casino's compliance committee. As such, Sue had a responsibility to ensure that the regulatory obligations relating to finance were met. In addition, Sue was heavily involved in the corporate governance of the business.

Sue added "I am delighted to be joining KCS during this exciting period of growth and expansion. I am relishing the opportunity of developing the finance department and supporting the business as it evolves".

Stuart Poole-Robb, CEO, stated “We are very pleased Andrew and Sue have joined our team. They are both very strong additions. Our growth continues and we strive to ensure we offer our clients an extensive and solid service. The business world changes quickly, and we need to adapt to those changes. We pride ourselves on being able to do that and look at the world a little differently.

As part of our on-going business strategy, it is our intention to take a much more active role in supporting Scottish industry this year, with a physical presence in Edinburgh. Andrew’s extensive experience and business reputation is fundamental to help achieve stable growth and continued success.”
